DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

> The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 8, 24-51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim(s) 8, 24, 43 fail(s) to recite sufficient structural elements and interconnection of the elements to positively position and define how the continuous groove in the upper surface separates the inner portion from the outer portion so that an integral structure able to function as claimed is recited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 3, 6, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Manning. The patent to Manning teaches structure as claimed including a floating table comprising a base member (11) having an upper surface and a lower surface, a plurality of upper openings (14) in the upper surface of the base member, a plurality of lower openings (20) in the lower surface of the base member, a plurality of legs (25) adapted to be received by the plurality of lower openings, table is a "game table", the plurality of lower openings are substantially superposed with the plurality of upper openings, a plurality of protrusions extend downwardly from the lower surface and have the plurality of lower openings therein, the base member is substantially rectangular, one of the plurality of protrusions and one of the upper openings are positioned in each corner of the base member, the base member is made of a non-cellular material.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 10, 11, 18, 19, 20, 23, 52, 53 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Manning. The patent to Manning teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above. The use of different compositions, such as plastics and fiberglass, the use of different shaped openings to facilitate confinement of objects placed thereon and the use of tapered openings to provide a friction fit are well known limitations in the art, such as in knockdown tables with recessed openings.

To use such known limitations in the same well known intended purpose would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art, thereby providing structure as claimed. The method would have been obvious in view of the structures.

Claims 4, 5, 16, 17, 29, 30, 31, 54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Manning as applied to the claims above, and further in view of Neal. The patent to Manning teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above including bottom surface, the only difference being that the bottom surface does not include tabs to provide storage of the legs. However, the patent to Neal (figs. 4, 5) teaches the use of providing resilient tabs to provide a storage of the legs to be old. It would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the structure of Manning to include resilient tabs to provide for storage since such structure is used in the same intended purpose, thereby providing structure as claimed.

Claims 7, 9, 21, 25, 26, 27, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Manning as applied to the claims above, and further in view of London. The patent to Manning teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above including upper surface, the only difference being that the upper surface does not include an inner portion that is higher that an outer portion. However, the patent to London(fig. 1) teaches the use of providing an inner portion higher than an outer portion to be old. It would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the structure of Manning to include an inner portion higher than an outer portion, as taught by London since such structures are conventional alternative supporting bases used for the same intended purpose, thereby providing structure as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 8 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims..

Claims 43-51 are allowable over the prior art of record.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 12/21/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's remark's, a structure is entitled to all of it's uses. The patent to Manning teaches structure as claimed able to function as claimed.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
